Don't forget to ask the general questions on page 4

Tanning beds offer a natural color, but they can cause irreversible damage to your skin. You can adjust your tone based on the length of time you tan and the level of the bed, but they require pre-planning and time commitment months before your wedding.

Spray tan provides instant results that don't damage your health. The only cons are that spray tans don't last more than a few days, and you have to test it out at several appointments to find the shade that's right for you — so that you don't turn out like an oompa loompa on the big day!

Airbrush foundation creates a smooth, flawless complexion. It provides the perfect base for the rest of your makeup and stays put all night long. However, you have to hire a professional for proper application.

Using your own foundation will ensure that you know exactly how your skin will react to the makeup. You can touch it up throughout the night, but remember that it may not be as long-lasting or photogenic as a professional airbrush.

Fake lashes are easy to apply and remove, and there are tons of options that can add length, volume, drama — whatever look you want! However, they don't last very long. After a full-day's worth of laughing, tears, and batting your eyelashes at your fiancé, you might find your lashes hanging on by a thread.

Lash Extensions can last up to two months. Each lash is hand-glued separately, resulting in natural-looking lashes. Make sure to try them before your wedding, as some people have bad reactions to the glue. And they aren't cheap — be prepared to spend!

Acrylic/gel nails are perfect if you want to add some length, but they wreak havoc on your nail beds. The length can last for months, but you'll need a fill every two to three weeks, or else they'll start falling off.

Natural nails are the healthiest and most cost-effective option. However, they are more susceptible to breaking than acrylic nails, and growing long nails isn't an option for everybody.
